In the nature of things the medical department of the army and the medical department of the navy must be and offices in the general government which have to do with the public health or subjects akin thereto should not be united in a bureau to be called the "bureau of public health." This would necessitate the transfer of the marine hospital service to such a bureau. I am aware that there is a wide field in respect to the public health committed to the states in which the federal government cannot exercise jurisdiction, but we have seen in the agricultural department the expansion into widest usefulness of a department giving attention to agriculture when that subject is plainly one over which the states properly exercise direct jurisdiction. The opportunities offered for useful research and the spread of useful information in regard to the cultivation of the soil and the breeding of stock and the solution of many of the intricate problems in progressive agriculture have demonstrated the tical state of piracy. wisdom of establishing that department. Freedman's Savings and Trust Company.

Recommendations have been made by my predecessor that congress appropriate a sufficient sum to pay the balance-about 38 per cent-of the amounts due depositors in the Freedman's Savings and Trust company. I renew this recommendation and advise also that a proper limitation be prescribed fixing a period within which the claims may be presented, that assigned claims be not recognized and that a limit be imposed on the amount of fees collectible for services in presenting such claims.

Semicentennial of Negro Freedom. The year 1913 will mark the fiftieth anniversary of the issuance of the emancipation proclamation granting freedom to the negroes. It seems fitting that this event should be properly celebrated. Already a movement has been started by prominent negroes, encouraged by prominent white people and the press. The south especially is manifesting its interest in this movement. It is suggested that a proper form of celebration would be an exposition to show the progress the negroes have made, not only during their period of freedom, but also from the time of their coming to this country.

I heartfly indorse this proposal and request that the executive be authorized to appoint a preliminary commission of not more than seven persons to consider carefully whether or not it is wise to hold such an exposition, and if so to outline a plan for the enterprise. I further recommend that such preliminary commission serve without salary, except as to their actual expenses, and that an appropriation be made to meet such expenses.

It grew out of the fact that at that time the nations of the world had but primitive navies and had to draw on the merchant marine for the bulk of their strength at sea. With England showing the way, the other nations of Europe lost as time in adopting this plan of injuring an enemy. Commissions were issued by a belligerent state to vessels owned and manned by private persons, authorizing them to carry on hostilities at sea against the other belligerent. FACTORY ACCIDENTS.

Law Requires Those in Charge to Report Serious Injuries to Factory

The general assembly at its last session passed a law requiring that all accidents of a serious nature in which employes are injured so that they are compelled to remain out of work for a week or more, or are killed, shall be reported to the factory inspector by the person in charge of the establishment in which the accident occurred.

The new law, which is self-explanatory, follows:

"Section 1—It shall be the duty of the person in active charge of any manufacturing or mercantile establishment to forward by mail to the factory inspector at his office in Hartford, within fifteen days after each accident resulting in serious physical injury to an employe while at work in such an establishment, a written notice of every such accident of which he shall have knowledge, which notice shall state the name of the injured employe, the time of the accident, and the nature of the injury, and shall also contain a general description of the location in the establishment and of the character of the machine, if any, upon which the employe was at work at the time.

"Sec. 2.—The factory inspector shall forthwith transmit to the person in charge of such establishment a written acknowledgment of the receipt of such notice, and shall keep a record of such notice, and shall keep a record of such notice. such notice, and shall keep a record of such accidents thus reported to him. Such records, notices and reports to the factory inspector, and any inves-tigation made by him or his deputies or agents, shall be privileged and con-idential and shall not be open for examination or inspection, and neither such factory inspector nor any of his deputies or agents shall be a compe-tent witness as to the facts involved tent witness as to the facts involved in such accident in any proceeding pending in any court, unless such factory inspector, depety or agent was present at the time of the occurrence of the accident.

"Sec. 2.—The term 'accident' resulting in serious physical injury, as used in this act, shall be construed to mean every accident which results in the death of the employe or causes his absence from work for at least one week thereafter.

"Sec. 4—Any person, after having received from the factory inspector forms for such notices, who shall fail to send notice of any accident as required by this act shall be fined not more than twenty deliber."

quired by this act shall be fined not more than twenty dollars."

In a busy manufacturing city like New Britain there are several accident every week despite the fact that those in charge of the factories have used every precaution to prevent injury to their employes.

Most of the accidents, however, are slight in nature and thus far very few reports have had to be sent to the factory inspector from this city. It is greatly to the credit of those in charge of the manufacturing establishments that they are doing all in their ments that they are doing all in their power to render accidents impossible. THOUGHT DEAD.

There was a sensational development in a slit for annulment of marriage brought by Frederick Gillman of Arlington, N. Sunday, says the Bridgeport Telegram. The proceedings were haited and a special commissioner was appointed to come to this city and interview the alleged husband, Jeremiah Morton, who is said to live here.

Gillman's grouid for seeking the annuliment of his marriage is that his wife married Morton in Ireland, that there was no divorce, and that Morton is still alive. Mrs. Gillman claimed that her first husband died before she married Gillman in 1900, and witnesses swore to seing his body in the morgue in New York. The case will be resumed January 12.
